to repeat all your details.

About me

How to communicate with me: Things that cause me distress, including sensory differences: Things you can do to help me:

Any other important information about me (including medication or health conditions):

Ask me how I am feeling

An autistic person may:

- Avoid eye contact or display minimal or unusual eye contact.
- Behave in an unusual, inappropriate or unpredictable way when anxious, stressed, or confused.
- Find it difficult to cope in new and unfamiliar situations.
- Find it difficult to express emotions, feelings, and needs.
- Find it difficult to know how you are feeling and may seem insensitive, rude, or blunt.

- Not understand consequences of their actions or have no concept of danger.
- Dislike physical contact.
- Misinterpret verbal and non-verbal communications.
- Need extra time to process what is said to them.
- Seem argumentative, stubborn, extremely agitated, or overcompliant.

The Emergency Chat App is free to download. If you can't speak it helps by allowing text communication.

How you can help me

- 1. Remain calm; be patient, tolerant and understanding.
- 2. Address me by name each time you speak to me.
- When in contact with the police autistic people are classed as vulnerable. They are entitled to an 'Appropriate Adult'. This could be my emergency contact from page 1.
- 4. Be aware your behaviour and language can be confusing to me.
- 5. Keep your language direct, concise and unambiguous.
- Use short, single clause sentences and direct commands.
- Ask one question at a time, and allow extra time for me to respond – at least 8-10 seconds before asking more.
- Autistic people may have a different understanding of personal space: standing too close doesn't mean they are being confrontational, and standing at a distance doesn't mean they intend to flee.

- 9. Always explain what is happening, what will happen and why.
- Be aware autistic people may carry an object for comfort to help manage stress & anxiety; removing it can cause extreme distress. Only remove it if essential.
- 11. Avoid physical touch unless essential for safety.
- Be aware autistic people may not notice if they are injured, hungry or thirsty.
- 13. Autistic people can be sensitive to crowded noisy places, sudden/ loud noises, touch, smell and lighting. Find the quietest, least busy, place possible; try to be reassuring.
- 14. Avoid sudden and unexpected changes.
- 15. Keep timings realistic and update any changes. Avoid being specific about timings; you may be taken literally and cause distress if you deviate from the time you have given.
